A Premature Fight.

So confident are some of the Bloomfield Democrats that Grover Cleveland is going to be elected next fall that a fight for the postmastership of this town is already on between Mr. Francis Law and Mr. Thomas Flannery. It is not long since both of the above named gentlemen were vehemently declaring themselves out of politics. The young Democrats will do well to keep an eye on both of those old birds.

The Dog on the Farm.

A farmer once told the Listener that there was nothing in the world that would keep crows out of a field of young corn except a living man or good sized boy with a gun. He had tried all manner of scarecrows that ever were invented, and hung strings about in all sorts of ways, and the wise birds came in and pulled up the corn just the same. There was once a time, when people first thought about it, when a white string around a field would keep out crows—they thought it was a trap. But it took the whole tribe only a year or two to see through this device.

A dead crow hung up by the feet will scare away some crows—no doubt females, of a superstitious turn of mind—but it won't keep off the canny old agnostics among them. A farmer whom the Listener knows once had a shepherd dog who, at the command "Go down and keep the crows out of the cornfield," would take charge of the field and keep away every bird of them effectually. Dogs, especially collies, might be trained easily to perform this duty, though occasionally, no doubt, the crows would divide their forces and give the dog more work than he could do. Few of our farmers, by the way, realize the amount of help in their work that they can get out of a good dog.—Boston Transcript.

Car Horses Branded on the Hoof.

A young man who has just written a successful play was leaning on his cane in company with an actor—an English importation—watching the passing show on the Broadway side of the Morton House when, after a silence of several minutes, the playwright said:

"Do you see anything peculiar about the Broadway car horses?"

"Nay, nay! Would'st try to guy me?" said the actor.

"Look at their hoofs and tell me if they are not branded."

The actor sized the animals up, and a reporter, who was standing near enough to hear the conversation, did the same, and discovered the number 369 on the forward left foot of one of the horses. The figures were about half an inch long and had evidently been just burned into the hoof.

Superintendent Newell of the Broadway line, who was seen at his office in the barns at Fiftieth street and Seventh avenue later in the day, said in relation to the reporter's question concerning the branding of the hoofs of the horses: "Yes, we have been doing this for some time now. The idea occurred to me several years ago, and we find it very satisfactory."

"What was your object in branding them?"

"Simply so keep track of what each horse was doing. We keep the accounts of each horse now the same as we do of any man in our employ. It benefits us in a thousand ways. We know just how many days a horse works, how many days it has been sick and, in short, everything it does. It enables us to keep such a minute knowledge of their work that we know just what condition they are in, and if they are not all right we keep them in the barn."

"Couldn't you do that if you gave them names instead of numbers?"

"We have 2,000 horses in our employ," was the reply, "and there is a limit to names, unless you go back into ancient history.—New York Advertiser.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the senses of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."
